OTHER BUSINESS (11:20 a.m.)

Commissioner Peck asked if there is an update on the Sanderson Estates Fire Protection issue. Commissioner Koch said a builder is planning a building development with half-acre lots and the City of Pasco will bring in a water main. The Planning Commission has approved the development but there could be an appeal. If it goes through, the residents will have City water to connect to their fire system.

Commissioner Peck noted the 911 consolidation is moving ahead slowly. The plan is still in the best interest of the Tri-Cities despite where it is located.

Commissioner Koch inquired of Administrator Bowen what he had gained from attending the AWC Labor Relations Institute meeting in Yakima last week. Mr. Bowen said it was very beneficial and educational regarding the impacts of medical care known as Obamacare and how it could affect the county substantially. He noted he was not prepared to present specifics at this time.

Commissioner Miller asked about vacating a road along the Columbia River. Commissioner Peck said the Corps of Engineers wants to put a gate up on a road, adding he had inspected the area and said there was some evidence of target shooting but to gate off the road would prevent access to the river from that area.

NARRATIVE

NARRATIVE

The collapse of the domestic water well for the Sunset Domestic Water Association ('Association') has left its 45 residents without access to potable water. The Association has attempted to repair the existing well, but all attempts have failed and a new well must be drilled. These repair efforts have depleted the reserve funds of the Association, meaning that they cannot meet the considerable economic burden that is a new well installation. Franklin County, on behalf of the Association, therefore requests a CDBG Imminent Threat Grant to assist with the costs associated with the new well and restoring potable water delivery to the users of this water system.

The Association (DOH ID No. 86100) has a single well used for residential purposes. The Association currently maintains 20 domestic water connections (and two unutilized residential connections) that service 45 residents of Franklin County. The Association's well and distribution system is considered to be a Group A water system by the Washington State Department of Health.

On March 22, 2013, the manager (Bryce Ellison) of the Association found the pump to be inoperative. Mr. Ellison contacted ECS Northwest, LLC (ECS), as an electrical contractor to correct the issue. ECS found that the pump had become lodged in the casing pipe and was unable to extract it for maintenance. ECS then contacted Carpenter, a local contractor, to extract the pump. During the course of the extraction, the casing pipe for the well was snapped and subsequently breached. Investigation revealed that the casing pipe was damaged at multiple points, and subsequent attempts to repair the pipe failed. The Association was informed that they would not be able to have the well rehabilitated further, and that they would need to have a new well drilled. The collapse was verified and described as a public health issue by James R. Dawson of the Benton-Franklin Health District.

The collapse of the well was not a foreseen expense of the Association. It appears that the primary issue was the abuse sustained by the dislodged pump, which damaged the casing pipe, then ultimately breached and snapped said pipe when the contractor attempted to retrieve it. The pump is checked with its regular oil changes, and the Association reported no abnormalities with it prior to the incident.

Because of the nature of the emergency (that is, because this happening deprives individuals of potable water), delay is not a viable option. The affected residents are currently using bottled water provided by the Association for potable needs and water from a shallow well beneath an abandoned dairy for sanitary purposes (e.g., flushing toilets). The Association has issued a boil water notice to its members; however, shallow wells in this area are known to be high in nitrates and arsenic, which are not removed by boiling. There is a real and serious threat to public health if the system users are to inadvertently consume water from this well. Any delay in the replacement of the well increases the possibility of water system users consuming the water and places a substantial financial burden on the Association and its members.

As a solution, the Association is proposing to drill a new, 900-foot well, install a new casing pipe (starting at 12-inch and reducing down to 8-inch), and install a new pump (the existing one being damaged in the course of the extraction). The estimated cost of this work is $100,000. This determination was made after prior attempts at rehabilitating the existing well failed, costing the Association an estimated $35,000; this expense has left their reserve fund depleted. The cost estimate is based on figures provided to the Association by two of the three contractors solicited for estimates (the third contractor was unresponsive). Once the Association has selected a contractor, the work should be completed within one to two weeks, which would be within the 90-day time limit allotted by the CDBG Imminent Threat Grant.

The Association is facing an unusual situation. A dislodged pump, which had not shown any problematic signs, resulted in the collapse of the only well that provided potable water for the domestic water system. A revision of association maintenance policy that mandates more frequent inspections of the well and pump may be justified, and it may prevent such incidents from occurring in the future. In the meanwhile, the existing situation must be remedied. Without a CDBG Imminent Threat Grant, the Association will need to pursue other funding sources, most likely some manner of emergency loan. In addition to creating a substantial time delay, and continuing risk to the public health of the well users, the result of such a loan will invariably lead to increased rates for the Association members.

The Franklin County Board of Commissioners, on May 1, 2013, declared a state of emergency for the Sunset Domestic Water Association and its affected users. The County hopes to assist the Association with remedying the issue and reestablishing a potable drinking water source for these County residents. To this end, Franklin County requests assistance in the form of a CDBG Imminent Threat Grant.

Re: Sunset Domestic Water Association Well Failure

Dear Mr. DeJongh:

In response to your request for information regarding the status of the above referenced well our office has compiled a number of documents regarding the well and completed an on-site review. The well drilled in 1957 had experienced a breach in the casing in 2009 that was repaired by Triple A Drilling after a video review of the well. In March of 2013, the pump in the well failed, requiring replacement. In the process of removing the pump the repaired section of the well casing was impacted resulting in the collapse of the well. Based on the age of the well, previous repairs to the casing and interviews with the parties involved in appears that the well is unsalvageable at this point and will require replacement.

In the absence of an approved water source the residents served by this association are being required to haul water for domestic purposes and have been doing this for several months. The immediate replacement of this well is important to the public health of the residents to insure a safe consistent supply of water for their homes. Any assistance that Franklin County can provide in helping this association obtain funding for this supply would serve to protect the health of your residents.

If you have any questions or need further information please feel free to contact me at 509-460-4313.

Sincerely,

James R. Dawson
