4. Many Planning Commission actions can influence the value of a specific property, so the Planning Commission's process must be as fair as possible. Do you have any business interests or employment relations that could cause a conflict of interest with your role as a Planning Commissioner?
5. State law mandates both quasi judicial and legislative actions be heard by the Planning Commission.

To maintain an appearance of fairness, a planning commissioner----

- a) may not engage in discussion with the public or the applicant outside of a public hearing as it relates to quasi judicial site specific cases. Case file examples include Conditional Use Permits or Variances;
- b) may engage in discussion with the general public as it relates to legislative applications. Case file examples include Comprehensive Plan or Zoning Text changes.

How do you feel about not being able to freely discuss certain applications with the applicant or general public outside the context of a public hearing? Will you have a conflict with this law or a problem maintaining an appearance of fairness for Franklin County?
